The manifestation of evolution should be inseparably linked with the improvement of the life of the people wherein the success of the design depends not on a uniformity of colors but on the reverberations of contrasts for out of contrasts a picture of special significance may be revealed.

In the process of evolution one can consider only the ascension of consciousness founded upon freedom of possibilities and thus each must fulfill his obligation to earth by hailing the foundations of evolution with inter-participation and mutual respect.

Richard Austin
POINT Coordinator
December 1972

****

Attention Please: This report is not in conventional chronological order. In most instances the recent material is printed first with older material following.

First Run - 150 copies
Price per copy - $15.00
Printed in San Francisco, California
February 1973
Material not copywrited